

OUR SERVICES

POSITIVE IMPACT ON CHILDREN, STRONGER OUTCOMES FOR BUSINESS

Family Day in a factory in Cambodia

The Centre for Child Rights and Business is a leading social enterprise dedicated to helping companies understand, address, and improve their direct and indirect impacts on children, families, and youth, especially within supply chains. With over a decade of expertise, we are at the forefront of child rights, ESG, and human rights due diligence, aligning our services with major regulations (including the CSDDD) and global business and human rights frameworks. Our innovative, scalable, and sustainable services are always centred on the best interests of the child, and aim to create lasting positive impact for both children and businesses.

Get this leaflet on your phone

OVERVIEW OF OUR SERVICES

Our Goals

Supply chain actors have a better understanding of their human and child rights risk in supply chains

More workers and children benefit directly from child and forced labour prevention and remediation

More working parents in supply chains are proactively supported in their roles as parents

Supply chains provide increased opportunities for young workers to access decent and safe work

Improved gender equality in supply chains

A Selection of Our Services to Achieve These Goals

Child Rights in Business (CRIB) Working Group

Global child labour remediation services network

Child Friendly Spaces

Access to decent work for youth programme

Empowering women in the plantation sector

Site rapid assessment

Child Rights Action Hubs in child labour hotspot areas

Working and migrant parent training

Training on young worker management

Gender responsive policy and processes

Human rights risk & impact assessments, and research

Child labour prevention and remediation training for supply chain actors

WeCare & WeCare+ Family-Friendly Workplaces

Training on young worker rights and protection

Gender-transformative workshops for workers and management

Across all service areas, we provide comprehensive ethical advisory services, as well as tailored policy review and development for international buyers (global companies, SMEs), suppliers and multi-stakeholder initiatives. We ensure the highest standards of child rights protections in supply chains that meet human rights due diligence obligations and create a tangible positive impact.

OUR IMPACT AND REACH

Data updated until June 30, 2025

198,537 WORKERS &
267,931 CHILDREN

benefitted from our programmes
(directly & indirectly)

10,978 PARENTS

reported improved
communication with their children

1231 CASES OF CHILD LABOUR

handled by The Centre

701 COMPANIES

reported positive business
benefits

1231

child labour cases reported to The Centre, with 68% leading to remediation, including living stipends and access to education

338

companies report improved transparency

2265

young workers have received training and improved their on-the-job skills

134

buyers have reported improved relationships with their suppliers

5982

children cared for in Child Friendly Spaces in factories, farms & production sites

112

companies have reported
improved productivity

OUR CLIENTS & SCOPE

171

global brands and
retailers have worked with us

20+

industries covered
by our work

33

countries covered, with about 60 programmes
at a time

155

staff and accredited
service providers
work for us

Contact Us

info@childrights-business.org | childrights-business.org